

A formal portrait of Mr. and Mrs. David C. Pack.

Left, the wedding of Vernia I. Anstey to Mr. David C. Pack on May 4, 2008. Bottom, the newlyweds enjoy a laugh together.

Top and bottom, the Packs visit the scenic Letchworth State Park in New York after the Feast of Tabernacles in 2008. Middle, the newly married couple on a trip to Mackinac Island, Michigan, in September 2008.

AC

In the fall of 2008, Ambassador Training Center (AC) opened, marking the reconstitution of God's college, crucial for training ministers and Headquarters staff for the growing Work of God. Chancellor, wife and faculty greeted incoming students during the faculty reception dinner (top). Bottom, addressing students during Orientation Week.

Top, delivering a broadcast in the renovated World to Come television studio. Bottom, behind the scenes of the broadcast.

Top and bottom, Mr. Pack prepares to deliver one of his World to Come broadcasts.

The Pastor General visits youth at the 2008 Ambassador Youth Camp (AYC). Top, delivering a sermon to young people in the Church during the final Sabbath of camp. Bottom, at a Question and Answer session earlier in the camp.

On the Sabbath of May 2, 2009, Mr. and Mrs. Pack receive a gift from Headquarters staff in recognition of the 10th Anniversary of The Restored Church of God.

In the spring of 2009, the Church had the opportunity to acquire one of the limited edition Elijah cups. Mr. Herbert W. Armstrong received an Elijah Cup, made of Steuben Crystal, as a gift from the WCG Advisory Council of Elders. Its purchase serves as an inspiring piece of history, reminding brethren of the Elijah commission and the Work that must still be completed.

Redesigned in early 2009, the new, renovated World to Come studio reflects a higher quality and more advanced technology than the previous one. With the Ambassador Training Center completing its first full year, World to Come broadcasts in production, a rapidly expanding worldwide full-time ministry, and surging growth in all areas of the Church, the Work presses forward into the next phase of the Great Commission...